WBT Social Media & Content Strategy

October 2025 Onwards

A comprehensive blueprint for scaling your social presence while maintaining authenticity, driving conversions, and building a community that actually converts. This strategy transforms how we approach content—moving from testimonial-heavy feeds to growth-optimized storytelling that positions Dan as a thought leader while strategically guiding prospects through your funnel.

Solving the Testimonial Problem

Current Issue

Your YouTube and Instagram feeds are currently testimonial-heavy, creating a critical conversion problem. While testimonials provide essential social proof, they don't drive discovery or growth. When prospects land on your page, they see evidence but not education—credibility without curiosity.

The reality? Testimonials convert warm leads but don't attract cold traffic. They're the closing argument, not the opening hook.

Strategic Solution

We're repositioning full testimonials as website assets (success stories, already exist)—your conversion hub where serious buyers go deep. Meanwhile, social feeds become discovery engines featuring:

- Light versions on Social Media only:
- Reels: 20–30 sec highlight clips → framed as mini case studies with lessons.
- Stories: quick before/after screenshots with “Swipe up to see full success story.”
- Carousels: testimonial quote + “strategy behind the result.”
- CTA Funnel: Always link back to the website → “See the full story here.” This keeps feeds growth-driven while your website holds the credibility arsenal.

Posting Frequency: Consistency Meets Strategy

Consistent content builds algorithmic momentum and audience trust. This schedule balances volume with quality, ensuring you show up strategically without burning out your team or diluting your message.

Weekly Deliverables

- 3 Reels – Short-form hooks for discovery
- 2 Static Posts – Visual storytelling moments
- 1 Carousel – Educational deep-dives
- Daily Stories – Behind-the-scenes & engagement
- 1 Long-form Video – Every 2 weeks for authority

Monthly Totals

- 12 Reels – Algorithm-optimized reach
- 8 Static Posts – Brand moments & visuals
- 4 Carousels – High-value educational content
- 30 Stories – Daily touchpoints & authenticity
- 2 Long-form Videos – Thought leadership depth

This cadence ensures you're omnipresent without overwhelming your audience. The mix of formats keeps your content fresh and algorithmically favored across platforms while maintaining a sustainable production workflow.

Four Content Pillars That Drive Growth

Every piece of content should ladder up to one of these strategic pillars. This framework ensures variety, prevents creative burnout, and positions WBT as both educator and authority in the coaching space.

Education & Value

Marketing frameworks, tactical tips, and strategy breakdowns that solve immediate problems. This is your traffic driver—the content that gets saved, shared, and attracts cold audiences. Think: "3 email sequences that convert" or "How to write hooks that stop the scroll."

Brand Storytelling

Dan as the face, behind-the-scenes glimpses, and personal lessons learned. This humanizes the brand and builds parasocial connection. People buy from people they trust—this pillar builds that trust. Show the journey, the failures, the daily reality of building a coaching empire.

Proof & Success Stories

Mini case studies, client transformations, and result-focused snippets. Not full testimonials—strategic proof points that demonstrate your methodology works. These warm up your audience for the conversion without being overtly sales-heavy.

Thought Leadership

Contrarian takes, bold predictions, and industry hot takes that position Dan as a visionary. This content generates engagement through debate and positions WBT as ahead of the curve. Example: "Why most coaches fail" or "The marketing strategy everyone's copying wrong."

Selling the $47 & $297 Offers Without Being Salesy

The cardinal rule: Your content should never feel like a pitch deck. Selling must be subtle, rare, and consistent. The moment your feed becomes promotional, you lose trust and tank engagement. Here's the strategic framework for converting without overwhelming.

The $47 Offer Strategy

Position this as the natural next step after value-packed education. CTA placement: end of educational Reels or Carousels, once per week maximum.
Example: "Want to see the exact funnel blueprint we used to generate $500K? Grab our $47 demo system—link in bio.“
This feels like a logical extension of the free value, not an interruption. The offer solves the problem you just taught them about.

$297 Offer Strategy

This is your premium play—positioned 1-2 times per month, always after storytelling or proof content. Timing matters. Example: "If you're serious about scaling past $10K months, here's our advanced training that walks you through the exact systems." Deploy in Stories and email—these warmer channels handle higher-ticket CTAs better.

The Content-to-Conversion Ratio

Follow the 80/20/10 rule: Approximately 80% pure value and education, 20% social proof and success stories, and less than 10% direct CTAs. This balance keeps your audience engaged while subtly moving them down the funnel. Stories and email sequences handle the heavier lifting for conversions.

Pro Tip: Use Stories for soft CTAs daily—polls, questions, swipe-ups. Email sequences push the $297 upsell with nurture campaigns. Your feed stays value-focused while your backend does the selling.

Conclusion & Your Next Steps

Key Takeaways

Testimonials belong on your website, not your feed

Free up your social channels for discovery and education while conversion assets live where serious buyers research.

Structured posting drives consistency and algorithmic favor

Your content calendar ensures you show up strategically without creative burnout or message dilution.

Four pillars create balanced, strategic content

Education, storytelling, proof, and thought leadership work together to attract, engage, and convert your ideal clients.

Subtle CTAs sell without overwhelming

The 80/20/10 ratio keeps your audience engaged while strategically guiding them toward your offers.

Dan as the face keeps WBT human and relatable

Personal brand power is your unfair advantage—lean into Dan's authenticity and vision.

Implementation Roadmap

Align Teams

Get internal buy-in on strategy, roles, and content workflow.

Finalize Calendar

Map out 30 days of content with asset creation timelines.

Launch & Iterate

Deploy the strategy and optimize based on real performance data.

Start Planning